It's Still The Craze

Sophomore Sarah Holt demonstrates that the residence halls are still popular among ICC's students. Residents often decorate their rooms to reflect their unique personalities.

ICC students Scooter Kellum, Nathan Osborne, T.J. Hurst, David Flippo, Mitch Pulley and Jeffery Chism swap stories during lunch in the Cafeteria. Although the building has changed, the Cafeteria is still a common place for students to hang out at lunch between classes.

IT's still the craze for Itawamba Community College students.

Even though the college has physically changed since it opened in 1948 and thousands of students have walked through its doors, some things at ICC remain the same.

From residence hall activities - although the college didn't have halls when it began - to hanging out in the Cafeteria to studying outside with friends, it is evident that there are several traditions at ICC that will continue.

It is these activities that make the Itawamba Community College experience special to its students and that create memories and friendships that will last forever.

Above, Grace Riley and Lauren Chamblee take advantage of the unseasonably warm fall weather to study algebra on the Cafeteria patio.

Left, Sophomores Rachel Frederick and Pamela Lawrence wait for area children to trick-or-treat during the residence halls-sponsored event at Monroe Annex on October 28. Sheffield Hall also participated in the annual event.

It's What You Make It

Daniel Brookman, Josh Nance, Carmen Hood and Olivia Verell listen to a lab lecture on bones.

Resident students David Jones, Robert Montgomery and Wes Matthews make the most of their stay in Lee Hall by playing music in their room.

ITawamba's about students, and the possibilities for participation and achievement are endless.

Whether students enjoy studying art, playing sports, listening to music with friends or challenging themselves with difficult classes, ICC offers all anyone needs on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses to make their dreams come true.

With several clubs and organizations and both intramural and intercollegiate sports the students can choose their level of involvement.

No matter where students come from or what they like to do in their spare time, Itawamba Community College is all about their energy, participation and accomplishment.

It's Only The Beginning

Sara Harrington and Obryan Watkins perform a science experiment in one of the labs.

Carley Robertson and Ashley Tutor bundle up for a cool fall night of watching intramural football.

IT's only the beginning for most of ICC's students' college careers.

Although some will complete their education at either the Fulton or Tupelo campuses, many students will transfer to major universities. The most popular are the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State University.

Students will become doctors, landscape engineers or scientists, building on the foundations that they began at ICC.

From working in the labs to rolling up their sleeves and actually tilling the soil, all students are fully prepared to begin their futures.

Many students, however, view labs and extra projects as a waste of time. Not so, especially for those in allied health.

Little do they know, it's only the beginning.

Above, Margie McElwain makes an interesting observation while using her microscope in a science lab.

IT's NOT JUST ANOTHER YEAR

It's definitely not just another year at Itawamba Community College.

It has been a year of broken records, new developments and improvements.

The 2003-04 school year brought with it the largest enrollment in the college's history, and several new faculty members joined the staff.

Not only did student enrollment include the largest number of students but also a record number of those participating in distance learning.

In the Fine Arts department, both the band and choir had the most participating students in history, and for the first time ever, a show choir represented ICC.

In the area of sports, the 2003 spring baseball team earned state, regional and super regional championships.

New improvements and developments included the opening of Chickasaw Hall, which reduced the residence hall waiting list, and Mississippian Street was divided to relieve the congestion of traffic.

It's not likely a year to be forgotten.

IT's all in the ATTITUDE!!! Attitude is expressed by unity among ICC's students, faculty and staff.

But, more importantly is the shaping of minds, ideas and emotions toward one common goal. . .the education of people in Northeast Mississippi.

It's only by this attitude of unity that this goal may be accomplished.

And, Itawamba Community College has been fostering this attitude for 55 years. Around the campuses today are many different faces, faiths and backgrounds. . .united!

IT's ALL OVER CAMPUS

Students making news is what Itawamba Community College is all about.

Beginning with Homecoming '03, candidates campaigned long and hard hours to be elected as one of the nine-member court, which was presented at halftime, October 4.

Sixty-two contestants then competed for the title of ICC's Most Beautiful 2004.

This year, also, faculty members from both campuses selected ICC's representatives for Who's Who Among American Junior Colleges and the Hall of Fame. These students were selected on the basis of academic success, leadership and campus involvement. The faculty also determined six nominees for Mr. and Miss ICC , and the Fulton campus student body made the final selection in January.

In the spring, Brittainy Childers earned the right to compete in the Miss Mississippi pageant by winning Miss ICC.

Other newsmaking traditions included Honors Day and Indian Week.

Kellum, Hammond take top honors

Scooter Kellum of Amory and Tiffany Hammond of Houston won campus elections in January to become Mr. and Miss ICC.

Kellum's ICC activities include cheerleading, assistant softball coach, soccer, Indian Delegation, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Baptist Student Union. He received the Indian award for soccer in 2003. The son of Ed and Natalie Kellum, he plans to major in physical education at Delta State University.

At ICC, Hammond has served as basketball assistant, statistician, Diamond Girl captain and tutor.

She has been a member of Indian Delegation, Gospel Choir, Phi Theta Kappa and Science Club (secretary).

Hammond plans to major in medicine at Millsaps College.

She is the daughter of Larry and Eva Hammond.

Fulton campus students voted in the runoff on January 16 between Kellum anc Luke May and Hammond and Linkie Badenhorst.

Childers wins Miss ICC crown

The title of Miss Itawamba Community College 2003 went to Brittainy Childers of Smithville at the annual winter pageant.

Laurie Black of Tupelo was selected as first runner-up.

Four contestants participated in the pageant which was January 28, 2003 at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center Auditorium at the Fulton campus.

The pageant is a preliminary to the Miss Mississippi pageant in Vicksburg, where Childers earned a talent scholarship.

Other contestants were Shunta Bolden of Tupelo and Mallary Simmons of Aberdeen.

The contestants participated in swimsuit, talent, evening wear and interview competition.

Childers, a business management major, sang "Break it to Me Gently" during the talent portion of the competition.

Miss Mississippi 2002 Jennifer Adcock served as emcee for the pageant.

Mary Sue Boggs was the coordinator.

ICC celebrates sunny Homecoming

Homecoming 2003 on October 4 at Itawamba Community College was a day filled with beautiful blue skies and bright sunshine.

One of the highlights of Saturday's activities was the presentation of the court during halftime of the ICC/Pearl River game at Lambert Stadium at 3 p.m.

The court was elected by students on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses.

Members of the court and their escorts were queen Kirsten Johnson and Justin Alexander, Fulton maid Linkie Badenhorst and John Adam Bryan; Fulton freshman maid Charlena Corbitt and Ken Wall, Tupelo sophomore maid Ashley Guinn and Jared Comer, Tupelo freshman maid Erin Jones and Lonnie Hunter, Fulton sophomore maid Jessica Mobley and Eddie Michael, Fulton freshman maid Jackie Pannell and Cornelius Gilleylen, Tupelo freshman maid Staci Reese and Zack Rogers, and Tupelo maid Christy Williams and Steve Hall.

ICC honors special alumni

Itawamba Community College's Homecoming, October 4, was the culmination of a busy week of activities.

Thursday night, the Student Government Association sponsored a parade and dance to get students into the Homecoming spirit.

A pep rally and cookout were also held on both campuses.

The ICC All-American Band started the afternoon's festivities with a pregame performance at Lambert Stadium.

Next, Curt Monroe of Fulton and Mac Curlee of Tupelo were inducted into the Athletic Hall of Fame.

During halftime, special presentations were made to ICC Alumni Association president Mayor Thomas Griffith of Amory and Alumnus of the Year Dr. O. Wayne Gann of Corinth.

The Indians lost to Pearl River during Saturday's game.

Additional activities included a barbecue luncheon and a reception for the alumni honorees at 1:15 p.m. in the Student Services Building lobby.

Robertson is Most Beautiful

Carlee Robertson of Columbus was selected as ICC's Most Beautiful for 2004 from among the 62 contestants who competed for the crown, October 21.

Runners-up were Cara Comer of Fulton, first; Jada Jamerson of Fulton, second; Katherine Gillen of Pontotoc, third; and Dallas Harden of Tupelo, fourth.

Additional top 20 contestants were Brittany Batchelder, Brandie Backes, Keri Sudduth, Teri Sudduth, Kayla Fleming, Cindy Howell, Christie Collins, Mallary Simmons, Laura Hope Nelson, Whitney Turner, Miranda Perry, Jackie Pannell, Kelli Elizabeth Cox, Loren Renee Parham and Megan Arlene Pope.

The judges were Ryan Miller of Oxford, Margaret Henry of Corinth and Jalin Wood of Waynesboro.

Rob Greenhill provided the entertainment with his version of "I Can Only Imagine" to give time for the judges to make their decision.

Mary Sue Boggs, speech instructor, served as pageant coordinator.

62 vie for ICC beauty crown

A record 62 contestants competed for Itawamba Community College's Most Beautiful title, October 21.

Carlee Robertson won the crown, which was presented by ICC president Dr. David C. Cole, before a packed W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium at the Fulton campus.

Rebecca Randle, Most Beautiful 2003, also participated in the pageant, for which the theme was "Imagine the Beauty."

Clyde J. "Cy" Williams, ICC speech and theatre instructor, served as emcee.

Others who were instrumental in the production of the pageant were ICC's Indian Delegation and Dr. Cass Patrick and the ICC Jazz Band.

For the first time in the history of the pageant, a portion of the contestants' entry fees was contributed to the Itawamba Community College Foundation, Inc. to provide scholarships and other necessities for ICC's present and future students.

69 ICC students selected for Who's Who

The 2004 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges will include the names of 69 students from Itawamba Community College who have been selected as outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of ICC's students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since 1966.

ICC's students were nominated by faculty, staff and administrators.

300+ grads earn degrees

More than 300 Itawamba Community College students received Associate of Arts and Associate of Applied Science degrees and certificates at the 2003 commencement ceremony, May 16 at 7:30 p.m.

In order to accommodate increasing crowds, the ceremony was moved to the BancorpSouth Center in Tupelo.

Tupelo Mayor Larry K. Otis, who previously served as the director of ICC's Tupelo campus, delivered the address.

Other program participants were graduates Cristin Bland, Braden Bishop and Emily West Morris.

ICC President Dr. David Cole awarded the diplomas and certificates.

More than 200 graduates began the day by attending a breakfast sponsored by the Allumni Association, followed by practice at 10 a.m.

In addition, Associate Degree Nursing graduates received their pins in a Candlelight Ceremony, May 15, at 6 p.m. at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center Auditorium on the Fulton campus.

Students who have excelled academically at Itawamba Community College were recognized at the annual Honors Day ceremony, April 9, at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium on the Fulton campus and at the Tupelo campus, April 8.

The Tupelo ceremony was in the Multi-Purpose Building.

Amanda Pitts Hysaw, clinical specialist with the North Mississippi Medical Center's Infusion Services, addressed the topic, "Dimensions and Directions of Health: Choices in the Maze." She commended the honorees for "making healthy choices to be good students."

Hysaw earned the Associate of Arts degree in pre-pharmacy from ICC in 1990.

In addition to division honorees, certificates were presented to members of the Scholars' Bowl team, Missisisppi's All-State Academic team and to retiring faculty members.

Phi Theta Kappa and the Honors Council sponsored the annual ceremony.

Jammin' is order of week

Prior to drowning in the stress of spring final exam week, students at both campuses of Itawamba Community College participated in the annual tradition of Indian Week, which began in 1974.

Events on both campuses gave everyone an opportunity to relax and have fun before buckling down to study.

Fulton campus events included caricatures by cartoonist Steve Gipson, a fashion show with a performance by Kaleidoscope, an informal dance, inflatable games and Bingo. The week ended with a spring formal dance on Thursday night.

Tupelo campus students spent the week in search of the Lost Indian, hoping to win the $50 prize.

Other events included Honors Day, men's and women's March madness basketball, performance by musical group Stumpwater, talent show, karaoke contest, free food and Indian Olympics.

The Student Government Association spearheaded the event.

ALL IN THE # GAME

Competition at Itawamba Community College is more than just who wins or who loses.

Athletes in every sport commit their time and talents to make ICC stand out.

Coaches spend time on and off the playing arenas challenging players to perfect their skills while becoming better people.

Athletics at ICC includes baseball, basketball, cheerleading, football, softball, soccer, golf and tennis.

The 2003 baseball and tennis teams excelled with trips to the World Series and national tournament respectively. On its way to the World Series, the baseball team earned state, regional and super-regional championships.

Other highlights of the year included a trip to nationals for golf team member Scotty Patterson, and participation in the playoffs for the softball team, led by first-year coach Teddy Bouchillon.

Through winning and losing, the ICC Indians and Lady Indians showed their Indian pride by improving their game and playing with character.

Indians fall short of playoffs

Despite falling seven points shy of the playoffs, ICC's football season provided many team and individual highlights.

The Indians knocked off division nemesis Northeast and capped off their 2003 campaign with a convincing victory over the Holmes Bulldogs.

Running back Don Rich established a new single season rushing record while several others received all-division and all-state accolades.

Indians' post-season hopes fall short

Gulf Coast 6, ICC 3

Don Rich rushed for 137 yards on 27 carries, but ICC's possible game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter was called back, Sept. 4. Chris Shoup hit a 27 yard field goal for ICC's only points.

Hinds 9, ICC 6

ICC's defense still didn't give up a touchdown in its second game, Sept. 13. Hinds kicked three field goals to the Indians' two in the contest. Chris Shoup was named the MACJC player of the week for his play.

Northwest 38, ICC 6

The Indians offense finally scored, but six points weren't enough to defeat the Northwest Rangers in the North Division opener, Sept. 20. ICC turnovers and big plays by Northwest were the keys to the game. "You're not going to beat anybody turning it over seven times," said ICC coach Jeff Terrill.

ICC concludes season with No. Div. win

ICC 41, East Mississippi 26

Behind a big effort from quarterback Ken Topps, Itawamba beat East Mississippi at Scooba, Sept. 25. Topps had 224 total yards, accounting for four TDs.

Pearl River 20, ICC 7

Defense dominated the Oct. 4 Homecoming game with Pearl River. Both teams had limited scoring opportunities.

ICC 34, Northeast 31

Ken Topps threw to Michael Morris eight times for 141 yards, once for a score in the Oct. 9 shootout with rival Northeast.

Mississippi Delta 28, ICC 21

The fourth quarter made the difference in Delta's win over ICC, Oct. 23.

ICC 17, Holmes 7

Although the Indians entered the Oct. 30 game with the Bulldogs with no playoff hopes, they concluded the season with a North Division win.

14 named to squad

Following rigorous tryouts, 14 outstanding athletes were chosen for ICC's 2003-04 cheerleading squad.

Immediately after being selected, the team began practicing and enduring long hours to perfect their motivating routines.

Once school began, the cheerleaders worked "after hours" to put on the finishing touches.

No matter in victory or defeat, the cheerleaders always kept the crowd spirit up.

Showing Indian spirit at ICC is what cheerleading is all about.

Football, basketball games keep squad busy

The 2003-04 cheerleaders fired up crowds at both football and basketball games. They also participated in several pep rallies to pump Indian fans.

The squad included freshmen Justin Baulch and Brian Smith of Nettleton; Whitney Johnson of Hatley; Pamela Lawrence of New Hope; Jake Metcalfe and Haley Russell of Tupelo; Jessica Stokes of Pontotoc; and sophomores Nathan George of Sulligent, Ala.; Sara Beth Lewis of Hatley; Matt McCarley and Jordan Williams of Saltillo; Kenny Pennington of Pontotoc; Shaneeka Shannon of Shannon; and Danielle Smith of Mooreville.

Cheerleading at ICC this year was more than cheering at games. . .it was serving as role models, hard work, determination and devoting enormous amounts of time to build a successful program.

Regrouping year for both teams

After the close loss to Northeast, January 26, the Lady Indians stood at 10-8 and 3-3 in the division. "I like this team," said Coach Carrie Ball. "I think they're beginning to understand each other's skills and if we come together, this will be an interesting year."

The Indians, coached by Marty Cooper, had a season of ups and downs. They won their rivalry game against Northeast, 85-58, the sixth victory in seven tries. Following that win, the team's record stood at 6-10 and 2-2 in division play.

Three returnees form core of women's squad

The Itawamba Community College Lady Indians began the season with three returning starters - Tiffany Garth, Shera Edwards and Michelle Freeman.

"We've got three players that know what it takes to win in this league," said Coach Carrie Ball at the beginning of the 2003 season.

At presstime, the Lady Indians had a good chance to make the North Division playoffs, where they finished fourth last season.

A long break (Christmas) and a visit from Lawson State seemed to redirect the Lady Indians back into playoff contention.

ICC opened up division play with back-to-back humbling losses to Mississippi Delta and East Central in overtime.

But the Lady Indians rebounded with an 88-44 whipping of Lawson State. The out-of-division victory sparked Ball's women to three consecutive North Division wins - East Mississippi, Holmes and Coahoma.

Cooper rebuilds team with freshmen players

Determination was the focus of the 2003-04 season for the Itawamba Community College Indians.

Starting with only two returning experienced sophomores, the team was completely rebuilt.

As coach Marty Cooper said about the young team, "When you've got new players, it takes time. On the positive side, I also think we've got some good players that will only get better."

With a tough schedule of 10 of the first 13 games on the road, ICC's Indians went at it full force with division wins against Mississippi Delta and East Mississippi.

At presstime, ICC stood at 4-2 in the division and 8-10 overall, ranking third in the top four of the division.

The sensational season has left followers and members of the Tribe hungry for more.

Coach Rick Collier, who was named MJCAA Coach of the Year for 2003, used the fall season to evaluate his talent.

"The fall season gives us a chance to evaluate talent and see what needs to be worked on before the spring," Collier said. "Wins and losses aren't important. The team gets a chance to play together and improve."

Beside intersquad games, the Indians faced squads including Jeff State, Southwest Community College and Freed-Hardeman.

Improvement is key to Indians' season

With an overall record of 4-13-1, the Itawamba Community College men's soccer team showed a huge improvement over last season's 4-6 record, said Coach Mike Sullivan. The Indians went 2-7-1 in its division for fifth place.

"The big difference from last year to this year, was that we lost or tied 7 games by one or two goals, so we were right there in almost every game that we played this year," Sullivan said.

With 7 returning sophomores and 13 new freshmen, the Indians had more experience than last year's squad.

Many students took advantage of those opportunities and made lifelong friendships through friendly rivalry this year.

The program is voluntary and open to all full-time students except for varsity athletes who are certified in the particular sport that is being played.

This year's intramural schedule included beach volleyball, flag football, 3 v 3 basketball, 5 v 5 basketball, softball, ping pong, 8-ball pool and spades.

Inexperience proved costly for the 2003 edition of the ICC women's tennis team.

Solitary sophomore Brittany Scott advanced to the semifinals of the regional tournament to cap off her junior college career, but the Lady Indians compiled a lackluster 4 and 9 record.

The group didn't meet expectations, but the young talent brings hope for the 2004 season, according to coach Paul Johnson, who completed his second season at the helm, after taking over for long-time coach Linda Partlow.

Patterson's 149 good for trip to nationals

Although the state tournament proved to be disappointing for Itawamba Community College's golf team, sophomore sensation Scotty Patterson capped off his impressive JUCO career by firing a two-day total of 149.

That score was good enough for Patterson to garner a two-day top five finish and earn a berth in the NJCAA National Tournament. Patterson represented the Indians in Phoenix, Ariz., May 20-22.

The Indians finished at or near the bottom of the field in almost all tournaments in which they participated. However, Patterson made the all-tournament team during the Meridian Invitational played at Northwood Country Club, Mar. 18.

IT'S A MATTER OF GIVE AND TAKE

Many of ICC's clubs held fundraisers this year to raise extra money for projects or community service activities.

Fundraisers are a perfect example of how give and take are so important when a cause is involved, and this year's clubs have raised money or made donations to such groups as LeBonheur Children's Hospital, Salvation Army and Food Pantry.

ICC's facts show that students who participate in clubs have a better college experience than those who don't.

ICC's students this year had a wide variety of clubs from which to choose. . .from Band to Indian Delegation and from HOSA to BSU, there was something for everyone.

Students who participated in clubs made good use of their spare time through campus involvement. They made friends, were motivated and learned a lot about responsibility. . .all the while learning the valuable lessons of giving and taking.

DEX/SOS/VICA

Delta Epsilon Chi, Slightly Older Students and Vocational Industrial Clubs of America focused on service to students and the community this year.

DEX, an organization for business-marketing students, is designed to assist those interested in that field to showcase and develop their skills. The club participated in the second annual LeBonheur Radiothon, and the ICC Career Expo. The group also teamed up with United Blood Services in the annual blood drive, and members sold Christmas cards for LeBonheur Hospital which were designed by patients.

SOS, a group formerly known as RESA, was organized for students 25 and older to help meet the needs of nontraditional students attending college. The group provided a supportive network as well as a social environment and an opportunity for peer advising this year.

VICA members again participated in career competitions this year. The club's meetings were at the Tupelo campus.

Agribusiness/Forestry

During 2003-04, the Forestry and Agribusiness clubs spent time learning information that would be helpful to their members as they worked toward their careers.

In addition, both groups participated in community service activities.

The Forestry Club sponsored Project Learning Tree, which is an environmental education seminar. Members of the group practiced before taking its workshop on the road to area elementary schools. Also, speakers from the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks visited and discussed different career opportunities with the members.

Agribusiness Club members sold fruit for Christmas and assisted with its delivery. The group also enjoyed fellowship during cookouts while they took a break from classes. Members fired up the grill just before fall semester final examinations to relieve stress.

CPNA/Science Club

Both the Science Club and Computer Programming and Networking Association at Itawamba Community College had a busy 2003-04.

The Science Club was involved in the scarecrow building competition at the Itawamba County Courthouse, for which it took third place. The group sponsored a canned food and coat drive for the Salvation Army and Food Pantry, and worked with recycling efforts around the Fulton campus. The Science Club met once a month.

The CPNA, which also met monthly, invited guest speakers. Among them were Beth Frick of the North Mississippi Health Services, who discussed "Making the Connection, Making and Keeping Quality Relationships in Your Life," and Maria Benson, director of Cooperative Education and Work-Based Learning at ICC.

During its December meeting, 29 members met for a Christmas luncheon and fellowship.

ICC offers two-year medical degrees in Respiratory Therapy, Radiologic Technology and Physical Therapist Assistant. The students spend a lot of time doing clinicals and learning about their particular field.

Freshman and sophomore Physical Therapy Assistants attended the Mississippi Physical Therapy Association spring meeting and student conclave fall meeting in September in Jackson.

Physical Therapy Assistant club members worked with individuals in rehabilitation settings. PTAs contributed to total patient care under the direction and supervision of a physical therapist. Students were trained in the use of exercise, physical modalities and specific treatment procedures in lab and clinical settings this year.

The Rad Tech Club had 22 students this year, said sponsor Bill May, director of the program.

The Respiratory Therapy Club, which was sponsored by Harold Plunkett, had 11 members.

The Health Occupations Students of America and the Student Health Information Management Association are health-care related clubs which focus on helping others.

HOSA and SHIMA members worked around busy clinical schedules to participate in several events.

National HOSA week was November 2-8 with the Fall Leadership Conference on November 7.

The club also sponsored a campus blood drive in November and hosted the Northern District Leadership Conference January 30.

The group attended the State Leadership Conference, March 24-26.

Club sponsor was Nena Scott.

Two campus organizations created for student nurses at ICC include Nurses Christian Fellowship and the Student Nurses Organization.

The Student Nurses Organization met monthly in the Health Science Building at the Fulton campus.

Some of the group's community activities included a health fair in the ICC Fulton campus Cafeteria on December 12, campus-wide Halloween trick-or-treating with ICC's child development students and singing to the elderly at a Fulton nursing home just prior to Christmas break.

The Nurses Christian Fellowship offered spiritual insight to Fulton campus associate degree nursing students as well as an opportunity to discuss issues in their field this year.

Members of both of the clubs attended the Student Nurses Convention in April.

Students in Free Enterprise and Phi Beta Lambda are business-related clubs which allow business majors to be active in the community and other projects.

Phi Beta Lambda participated in such events as selling the World's Finest Chocolate Bars and raffle tickets and hosted the northern district PBL and FBLA conference/competition.

SIFE is an international organization whose mission is to provide college students the best opportunities to make a difference and to develop leadership, teamwork and communication skills through learning, practicing and teaching the principle of free enterprise. The club presented educational programs to school children, public service announcements and provided guest speakers for club meetings. February was designated as Free Enterprise Month in a proclamation. Sponsors were Susan Loden and Joe Williams.

Student Government Association

The Student Government Association is the governing body for both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses. This year, SGA gave ICC's students the opportunity to learn more about government, and it offered great leadership opportunities.

The officers of the association on both campuses were elected by the student body.

The Fulton campus officers this year sponsored "Make a Difference Week." During this week, each day brought a new difference. Monday was a food drive; Tuesday, recycle day; Wednesday, coat day; and Thursday, teddy bear day.

The canned food was delivered to a local church, and the coats, to children at a church in Tupelo. ICC's Child Development Center was the recipient of the teddy bears.

Also, SGA sponsored a Homecoming parade and dance, the first in several years.

Phi Theta Kappa

ICC's Phi Theta Kappa members at both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses prove to be positive role models with high grade point averages.

Along with regular meetings on Mondays, PTK members also sponsored a smokeout during which they gave free pizza to anyone who would give up their packages of cigarettes.

Other special activities of the year included a trip to Columbus to see Vice President Dick Cheney and state Republican candidates.

The Tupelo campus PTK chapter sponsored a series of teleconference lectures on health-related issues in the fall.

To be Phi Theta Kappa members, students must have a 3.5 grade point average and maintain at least a 3.2 GPA all succeeding semesters.

In addition, ICC's PTK members qualify for transfer scholarships to universities.

Indian Delegation/Modeling Squad

Itawamba Community College's Indian Delegation and Modeling Squad set an example for the college this year. They promoted ICC through modeling, recruiting and positive representation.

The Indian Delegation is an elite group of students who served on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses. They recruited, gave tours and served in other leadership positions. During this year, Indian Delegation received the prestigious award of Post Secondary Program School Award from the Mississippi Counseling Association. The group was also actively involved in assisting with the second annual Career Expo at the BancorpSouth Center in October. Allyson Cummings and Brad Boggs served as sponsors.

The Modeling Squad is made up of a group of 41 students that participated in fashion shows and special events including a holiday fashion show at the Mall at Barnes Crossing for JC Penney. Judith Naden was the sponsor.

Itawamba Community College students displayed creative talent this year in focusing on art and language.

Clubs that offered such opportunities were Projections, Sign Language and Student Art League.

The Sign Language Club, sponsored by Sue Goldman, focused on the fundamentals of sign language, emphasizing body language.

Projections members included students enrolled in Dr. Ken Bishop's professional writing class, which met the first Wednesday of every month.

The Student Art League was composed of art majors, a few of which made a trip to Chicago to visit museums and to learn more about their chosen field. Sponsors were Tom Douglas and Robert Ring of ICC's art department.

BSU/FCA/Gospel Sounds/Wesley

For many students at ICC, everyday life takes faith. Many have found ways this year to worship even though they are far from home.

Both the Baptist Student Union and the Wesley Foundation had weekly luncheons which were open to anyone.

Both sponsored and participated in several different events. For example, the BSU hosted a water party, which is an annual event, at the begining of the school year to afford students an opportunity to become acquainted.

Both the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Gospel Sounds played an important role as well. FCA was open to anyone and served as a good way for athletes to keep their faith both on and off the playing field.

Gospel Sounds was a religious vocal group that met once a week and performed around the area.

FEA/International Club

Future Educators of America, which was organized in the spring of 2003, is a part of a national organization that strives to interest students in the field of education early in their school experience.

FEA provides education majors with scholarship information and curriculum changes. The club sponsored Shadow-A-Teacher day which allowed students to go to a school of their choice and observe a teacher and grade of interest to them. Club sponsors were Stephanie Riley and Morgan Cutturini.

During this year, also, the International Club was organized. Open to both international students and anyone interested in learning more about other cultures represented at Itawamba Community College, members of the club shared information about their homeland and cultures. Sponsor was Richard Chandler.

All-American Band

The 2003-04 Marching Band was the largest community college unit in the state with 241 members.

The band was directed by David East, Cass Patrick and Tim Huckaby, the Indianettes were coordinated by Cathy Steele and the color guard by Toni Reese.

The theme of the show was "Blood, Sweat and Tears Meets Earth, Wind and Fire" with such hits as "More and More," "When a Man Loves a Woman," "Johnny Be Good," and the music sensation from the movie "Drum Line."

Drum majors were Amanda Miller, Melanie Pugh and Emily Wilson. Color guard captains included Garyon Judon, Mallory Torres, Erin Witcher and Laura Rodgers. Dance captains were Rachel Frederick, Courtney Faulkner, Shauna Little and Johnna Moore. Drum captains were Ross Stark and Darius Fant.

241 members make band largest in state

All-American Band

This year, Itawamba Community College's All-American Band performed at all home football games at Lambert Stadium at the Fulton campus.

The band's hard work was evident in its spectacular performance. . .the 241-members - the largest in the state - stretched across the entire field.

In addition, the marching band performed at eight Christmas parades including Tupelo, Fulton, Mantachie, Saltillo, Nettleton, Okolona, Shannon and Pontotoc.

During the spring semester, the group divided into one symphonic and two concert bands.

The winter concert was February 24, and the spring concert, April 15, both at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium.

Small ensembles make music

Jazz/Percussion/Brass/Woodwinds

For the devoted musicians at ICC, ensemble participation is a must.

Any student with the desire and skill to play is welcomed to participate. Many of the ensembles were made up of music majors and band members who love to play and go beyond the call of duty to make music in their spare time.

The groups include Percussion Ensemble, directed by Tim Huckaby; Woodwind Ensemble, by Dr. Cass Patrick; and the Brass Ensemble, by Sheree Lence.

The Jazz Band was composed of students with rhythm and style who made auditions held at the beginning of the year.

The ensembles and the Jazz Band both performed in two concerts. . .one in the fall and one in the spring.

Choir

During the 2003-04 school year, the Itawamba Community College choir performed on several occasions.

The choir was directed by Karen Davis. Jeffery Myers served as accompanist.

During the fall semester, the choir practiced music for the Christmas Gala, which was December 3 at the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center Auditorium on the Fulton campus.

Selections included "Gloria," "It's the Most Wonderful Time of the Year," and "Noel."

In other activities, several ICC choir members were selected to represent the college at the Honor Choir performance, February 5-7. They include Amanda Dull, Linkie Badenhorst, Heather Gausline, Garyon Judon, Ben Bullock, Joey Plunkett and Matt Brooks.

The choir also participated in the Choral Festival at Hinds Community College in Raymond, February 19-20.

The group's final performance was a spring concert in May.

Choir

The Itawamba Community College choir and chamber singers performed at the December 3 Christmas Gala.

In its portion of the program, the chamber singers combined with the Jazz Band for a variety of music. It included "Soulful Silent Night" and two original songs by Dr. Cass Patrick.

Chamber singer members included Samantha Minga, Brooklyn Walls, Desta Hallmark, Emily Potts, Mallory Torres, Sara Beth Lewis, Brandi Lesley, Heather Gausline, Bradley Gilmore, Jason Cimon, Kristin Holland, Ashley White, Josh Aultman, Stephen Malone, Amanda Dull, Caleb Ramey, Kem Coleman, Garyon Judon, Matt Brooks and Ben Bullock.

Chamber singers were selected on the basis of tryouts. Criteria included exceptional vocal ability and professionalism. Choir membership is preferred. The group is directed by Karen Davis, vocal instructor, at ICC.

CenterStage

There's nothing like the sound

CenterStage

Originally, ICC's contemporary music group was called Kaleidoscope, and it entertained at college functions as well as in the five-county service area for 29 years.

Jerry Cogdell and his wife, Robyn, directed the group for 17 years.

Over the years, the group has evolved into a stylish pop show choir. This group, composed this year of vocalists and musicians, had new costumes as well as a different focus.

The group's debut concert on October 2 during Homecoming week was a standing room only affair.

CenterStage, like its predecessor Kaleidoscope, has served this year as a major recruiting tool for this area and has had several performances throughout the year.

David East and Karen Davis are directors for the group.

ITAWAMBA TAKES EVERYBODY

A variety of students from as close as Fulton and as far away as Germany blend to make the Itawamba Community College profiles.

Students at Itawamba Community College now include full-time (enrollment in 12 hours or more) and part-time and traditional (those who attend just out of high school) and non-traditional.

With the advent of distance learning, it's now possible for a student to be full-time and never leave home for classes.

However, those students who do come to ICC's Fulton and Tupelo campuses find time to maintain their school work as well as being involved in campus activities.

Traditional students who entered college for the first time last fall had to learn to balance their time and extracurricular activities as well as accepting the responsibility of living away from home.

Many non-traditional students were faced with balancing home, family and jobs with enrollment in at least 15 hours.

Cole excited about ICC progress

In his twelfth year as president of Itawamba Community College, Dr. David C. Cole is as excited about the school's progress as the first time he came to the campus.

Dr. Cole's tenure has featured the addition of numerous state-of-the-art facilities on both campuses including the opening of Chickasaw Hall in 2003 and a Humanities Building set to open in 2004.

Increasing enrollments demonstrate the vital role that ICC plays in the community.

"Our faculty are teaching maximum loads this year, and we're using more adjunct faculty. Our classrooms are full and our parking lots at maximum capacity," Cole said earlier in the year. "We're getting higher education to a greater number of people in our area."

Cole is a native of Pope, and he attended Northwest Mississippi Community College before earning B.A.E., master's and the Ph.D. from the University of Mississippi.

He and his wife, Betty, have four children and four grandchildren.

It's All About

ICC's People

At Itawamba Community College, it's all about the people. From students to faculty and staff and administration, it's the people that make ICC special.

As enrollment continued to increase this year, a new vice president and dean of Academic Instruction were named.

Dr. Sara C. Johnson of Tupelo became the vice president of Instruction, effective July 1.

Jan Reid-Bunch, who formerly served as assistant to the president at Holmes Community College, took over as dean of Academic Instruction.

IT'S THE YEAR OF PROGRESS

As 2003-04 drew to a close, Itawamba Community College students reflected on the notable events of the year.

Events such as the formal opening and dedication of Chickasaw Hall and the campaign visit by Gov. Haley Barbour to the Fulton campus during a Homecoming pep rally were in campus news this year. Barbour defeated Ronnie Musgrove in November.

In addition, other notable events included increased enrollment, expanded class schedules, shrinking budgets, construction of a Humanities Building, parking lot expansion, soaring numbers in the All-American Band, more students taking advantage of online instruction and a record-shattering performance by the baseball team with a trip to the World Series.

In the music arena, Itawamba Community College's Kaleidoscope evolved into CenterStage, a show choir complete with new backdrop, state-of-the art equipment and glitzy outfits.

Far left, SGA president Tiffany Crawford visits with gubernatorial candidate Haley Barbour.

Above, Sandra Nabors Willis, Chickasaw County Circuit Clerk, participates in the ribbon cutting ceremony for Chickasaw Hall, September 13.

It's Our World Now

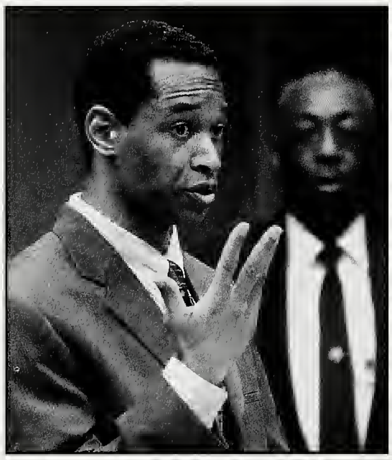
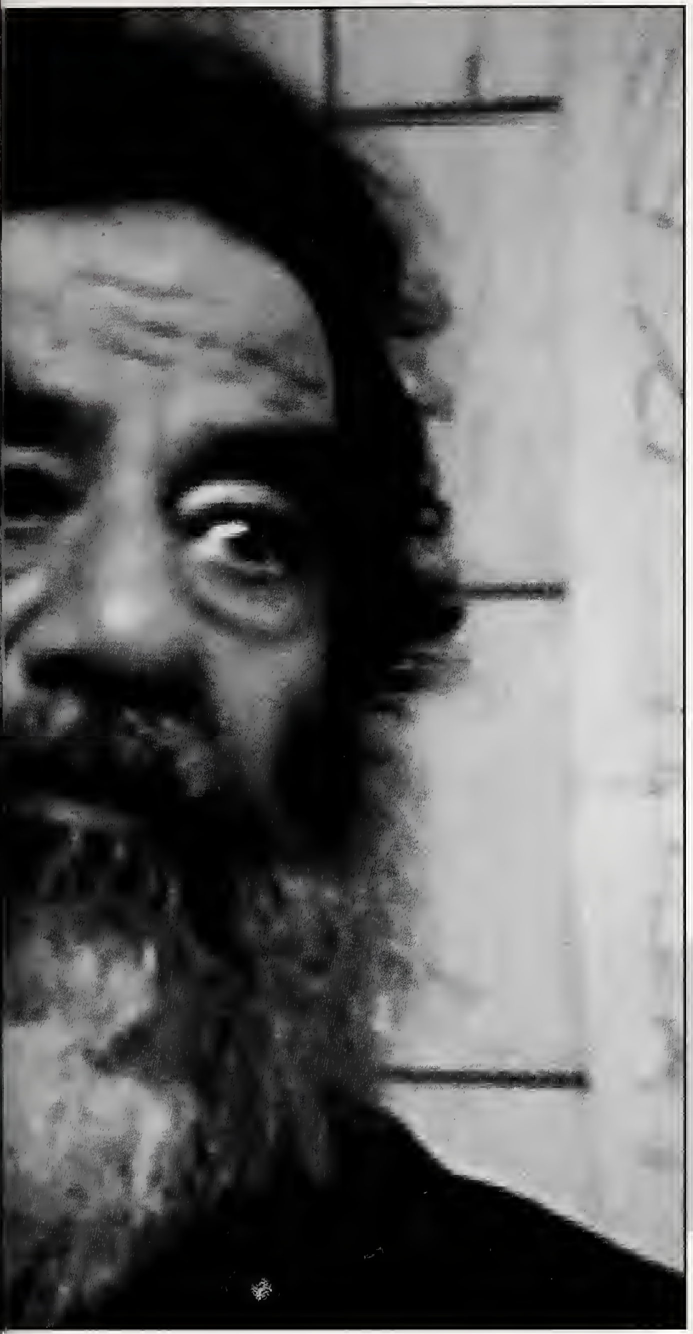
Captured former Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein speaks in Baghdad, December 14. Cars try to navigate their way through New York City during a blackout that hit U.S. and Canadian cities, August 14.



Acting as his own attorney, sniper suspect John Allen Muhammad addresses the jury. President Bush signs the Partial Birth Abortion Act, November 5.



IT's our world now is a phrase that students at ICC realized this year.

Through worldly events that occurred, ICC students and faculty just this year began to see how much Fulton and Tupelo were affected.

After a war centered around terrorism, the U.S. and its allies captured Saddam Hussein and began a restoration process in Iraq.

People joined hands in search of those who were missing, and thanks to the help of hundreds of volunteers, both Elizabeth Smart and Jessica Lynch were returned to their families.

In other news, a flu epidemic circled the globe, and absenteeism at ICC further endorsed its proportions.

Above, Jerry Brensinger of the Panhandle Health District in Idaho posts a message about the flu vaccine availability after the clinic ran out of shots in December.

Left, Amid admirers, Arnold Schwarzenegger talks with reporter after his speech as he takes his campaign for governor of California to the campus of California State University, September 3.

It's Our Way of Life

Michael Jackson gives the peace sign as he exits the Santa Barbara County Jail after being booked on child molestation charges.
Martha Stewart and her lawyer John Tigue leave U.S. District Court in November.

Trista Rehn, star of "The Bachelorette" and Ryan Sutter tied the knot on national TV.
Britney Spears and Madonna perform during MTV video music awards.

IT's our way of life because no matter where ICC students looked this year, there were fashions, trends and scandals waiting to be discovered.

Through this year, reality TV grew tremendously popular, and there seemed to be a show for every real life situation.

In the world of sports, records were broken, and high school athlete LeBron James went directly to the roster of the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Tragedy came despite all the glitz and glamour. . .Michael Jackson and Martha Stewart faced lengthy trials.

And, notables who died this year included Bob Hope, Johnny Cash, Mr. Rogers, John Ritter, Katherine Hepburn, Sam Phillips and Sen. Strom Thurmond.

Above, The Florida Marlins celebrate after defeating the New York Yankees, 2-0, to win game six of the World Series.

Left, Cleveland Cavaliers' LeBron James dunks the ball against the Denver Nuggets in the first quarter, November 5, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Colophon

In February, the final pages of the Mirror were shipped to Taylor Publishing Company in El Paso, Texas. The 2000 copies were produced there and shipped by truck to the Itawamba Community College Fulton campus. Greg Williams, Taylor's sales representative, assisted with the production of the the 9" x 12" book.

The book was produced on 100 pound enamel paper with Smyth binding. The cover was done in blue 868. The title/theme was silkscreened and foil stamped in white.

Photographs were made by ICC's photographers Merlin Conoway and Randall Sullivant and Rob Williams of the Itawamba County Times. A special thanks goes to both Donna Thomas, advisor, and Susan Garrison, public relations assistant, for proofreading and helping with every page. A special appreciation is also given to the staff members who worked on their pages to correct and complete them for deadlines. We would also like to thank Bill Tomlinson for Hall of Fame pictures.

"There's Nothing Like ITawamba" was the theme for this edition.

We hope that you have enjoyed a look at 2003-04. . .and that you will agree that "There's Nothing Like ITawamba."
